The Chesterfield Township Library Board has hired a new director for the local township library. Marion Lusardi is scheduled to take over as the director of the Chesterfield Library October 7, 1996.

"It just seemed like a wonderful opportunity," says Ms. Lusardi, on what prompted her to apply for the position.

Lusardi replaces Gail Hardenbergh who officially resigned from the position August 28, 1996.

Chesterfield's new director of the local library earned a Bachelor's degree from St. Mary's College, Notre Dame in Indiana. She obtained a Master's degree in Library Science from Wayne State University.

"I have a lot of experience with electronic referencing," notes Lusardi, on one of the attributes she brings to Chesterfield.

Ms. Lusardi most recently worked as a reference librarian for the Macomb County Public Library system. She has also spent six years working with the City of Troy as a librarian.

Stepping into the position, Chesterfield's new library director has one main goal, initially, and that is to "learn what the community wants."

A total of 15 people had applied for the position. The director of the library is responsible for such things as drafting the budget for the library for library board members to review, managing all staff employees and is ultimately responsible for the materials available to the public.

The hiring of Lusardi brings the number of full time staff members at the Chesterfield Township Public Library to two. The library also has six part time employees.

The new library director's annual salary will be $38,000.
